COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIPS

2023 ADDENDUM TO ANNUAL REPORT

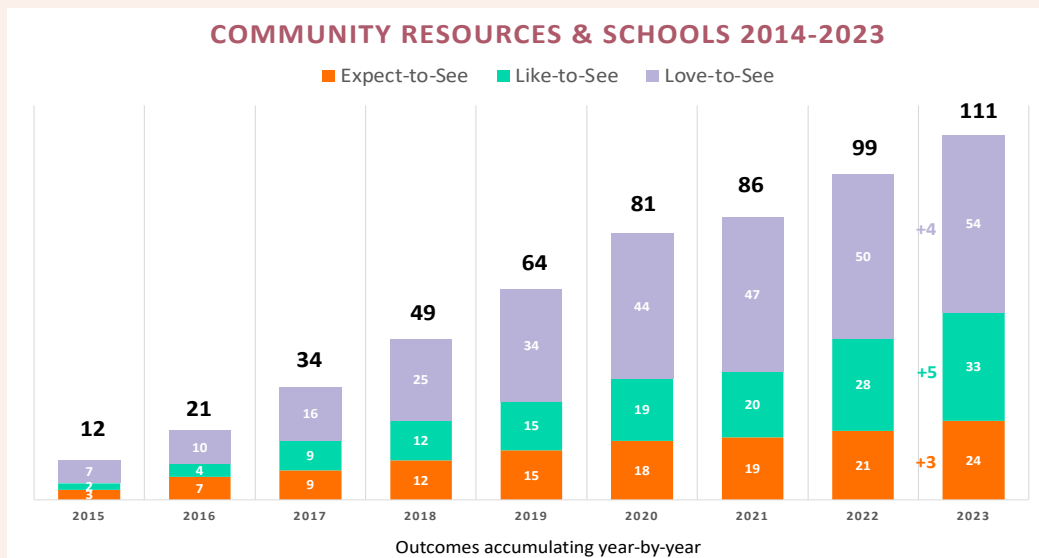

Collaboration is one of our core values. We believe in the power of collective impact and supporting one another in the community.

Community Partnerships

At BJM, our long-term strategy targets collective change. BJM invests in transformational relationships with our volunteers, donors and community partners, including local, national and international organizations. We focus on the quality and reach of our relationships and track cumulative outcomes. We do not do this work alone.

BJM has made 111 partnership impacts with community resources and local schools to date.

The chart at left highlights the cultivation and growth of community partnerships since 2014.

Our Mission & Results with Community Resources and Schools: In 2023, three community resources and schools reached the expect-to-see level, shown in orange. Together, we developed plans to work together to support local youth. As shown in green, five community resources and schools reached the like-to-see level. Together we forged a deeper relationship, shared resources and best practices, and developed mutually beneficial programs for youth. Delightedly, four community resources and schools reached the love-to-see level, as shown in the lavender. Together, we developed a model to support youth, shared that model with a broader audience and built a collective impact for youth in the community.

BJM is a vital partner for the flourishing of the Bay Area! We love how our ministries partner to help see lives transformed!

– Brandon Morrow, Community Partner, Moraga Valley Presbyterian Church

BJM stands in the gap for families in the Tenderloin providing intentional experiences that ultimately lead to Christ! They build meaningful relationships with all partners involved and are truly here to serve the community in a powerful way. I am so thankful for their presence and collaboration with SFCA. They have my full support!

– Bethany, Community Partner, SF City Impact
